

Sound of the Big Bands

Greg Padovani, Manager, 847-392-9113, gpadovani@comcast.net

In the late 1950's, some WWII vets were playing in various 5-7 piece "combo" groups. They made great music, but they missed the sound of the big bands. So one Sunday, they all got together for a "jam" session to play some the great tunes from the Big Band era. They liked what they heard, and thus was formed the Sound of the Big Bands. Today, the Band is a full 17 piece orchestra supported by a cadre of alternates playing from a "music book" of 300+ songs. Rehearsing at the Knights of Columbus, Holy Rosary Council in Arlington Hts., IL, band members play for the love of the music.
